DETAILED ACTION

Continued Examination Under 37 CFR 1.114

1. A request for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, including the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e), was filed in this application after final rejection. Since this application is eligible for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, and the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e) has been timely paid, the finality of the previous Office action has been withdrawn pursuant to 37 CFR 1.114. Applicant's submission filed on 11 September 2003 has been entered.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

3. Claims 1,2 and 14 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Aiyar (USP 5,471,695). The patent to Aiyar, see the embodiment of fig 7, discloses an electric brush (10) comprising a motor (50) completely within a handpiece (15) which drives a vibration generating means (60,710) that extends from the handpiece, an elongated protective cover (all of element 730) which is attachable to the handpiece and which has an elongated portion exterior of the handpiece so that the vibration generation means (710,60) is located within an interior of the protective cover and further including a sleeve (70) fitted onto the protective cover so as to cover the cover over at least a portion of its length as well as substantially its entire length (claim 2).

Art Unit: 1744

The recitation of "toothbrush" alone pertains to the indented use of the brush. It has been held that a recitation with respect to the manner in which a claimed apparatus is intended to be employed does not differentiate the claimed apparatus from a prior art apparatus satisfying the claimed structural limitations. Ex parte Masham, 2 USPQ2d 1647 (1987).

Allowable Subject Matter

4. Claims 3-13 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

5. ADDITIONAL SUGGESTION TO APPLICANT: A significant structural difference between the structure of Aiyar and that of the present invention is that the dental accessory (the brush, etc) is mounted to the element defined as the "sleeve" in the claims, which the brush of Aiyar is mounted instead to the element defined as the "protective cover". A positive recitation of this structural distinction (which is similar to claim 4) would be acceptable to the examiner and define over the patent to Aiyar.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments filed 11 September 2003 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. Applicant's comments regarding the patents to Hahn et al and Okada have been deemed sufficient to overcome the rejections based thereon. The patent to Aiyar; however, does disclose the main structural features that applicant has added to the claims. These being: (1) a motor (50) completely within a handpiece (15); and (2) and a protective cover (730; which includes the portion which encloses the weight (60) as well as the portion which mounted to the brush (300)) which is attachable to the handpiece and configured to have an elongate portion exterior of the handpiece.
